

A Kosovan tech company developing unique projects aimed at teaching young engineers and tech enthusiasts aged 8+ skills in engineering, programming and logical project solving is seeking partnerships under a financial agreement

- SCHEDA
- APPROFONDIMENTI

Identificativo proposta: BOXK20210308001

RICHIEDI MAGGIORI INFORMAZIONI

The company is a Kosovan tech company focused on developing various educational projects centered around their own “engineering laboratory” product, which aims to teach kids how to build fun and useful projects through engineering. With new projects launched on a monthly basis, young kids gather knowledge on basic electrical circuits combined with simple programming. The company is interested in expanding and diversifying their product line by partnering in the form of a financial agreement.

The Kosovan company, located in Prishtina, specializes in developing unique projects that inspire young engineers and tech enthusiasts aged 8+ to broaden their knowledge and understanding of concepts like engineering, programming and logical problem solving all done through a product developed by the company. The company has developed a product that acts as an “engineering laboratory” or as they like to refer to it, a machine for creative experiences. Through this laboratory, the company develops new projects every month based on these main pillars: - teach real-world concepts of engineering - build confidence by achieving real accomplishments - structured activities for kids to do at home - fun, hand-on and convenient access to creative tasks The company has developed a subscription-based client base to whom new projects are delivered to on a monthly bases, containing new elements for their main “engineering laboratory, as well as, new tasks and problems to solve. They are currently in a phase where they are looking to diversify their product lines, as well as, be able to develop even more projects for their existing product, thus they are seeking potential partners who would be interested in a financial agreement. They are open to investors from all over Europe, preferably a digital services company or digital education institution, who understand the capacities of the products and the importance of equipping younger generations with the rights skills for their future.

Riferimento Esterno: BOXK20210308001

Tipo: Business Offer

Paese: Kosovo

Presentazione: 08/03/2021

Ultimo aggiornamento: 20/09/2021

Scadenza: 21/09/2022